General Shapour Azarbarzin. I especially want to thank Israeli, French, and U.S. intelligence operatives (whose names must remain anonymous.) They repeatedly told me the same thing which became the key to unraveling the Carter mystery.

This story began with late Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and my talks with him during the Carter presidency. This book would not be complete without thanking many of the key people I interviewed over the years on this subject.: Dr. Reuben Hecht, senior advisor to Prime Minister Begin and my mentor;

Yehiel Kadishai, personal aide to Prime Minister Menachem Begin; Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir; Major General James E. Freeze, Assistant Deputy Director for Plans and Policy, National Security; General Jerry Curry, Department of Defense in the Pentagon; General George Keegan (retired), Chief of Air Force Intelligence from 1972 to 1977; Lt. General Richard F. Schaeffer (retired) Deputy Chairman of NATO Military Committee from January 1974 to June 1975; Isser Harel, former head of Israeli Intelligence and Security; Lieutenant General Moshe Ya'alon, former Chief of Staff, IDF; Mr. James Woolsey, former Director, CIA; General Hugh Shelton, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; General Yossi Peled, Chief of the Northern Command, Israel; General Dani Yatom, head of Mossad, Israeli Intelligence Service; General Ya-akov Amidror, former Chief of IDF Intelligence; Lt. General Tom McInerney; Masoud Barzani, President of Iraqi Kurdistan; and the late General Robert "Dutch" Huyser, Deputy Commander-in-Chief, United States European Command.

A special word of gratitude must go to Lanelle Shaw-Young, who has invested an enormous amount of time and work in this book from the beginning and throughout this entire project. The book would not have been possible without her contributions. I also wish to thank Arlen Young, who spent hours proofreading the pages of this manuscript. I am deeply appreciative to Pat Judd; to research assistant Dan Godzich, Washington, D.C.; Robert Baxter, research associate in Paris; to Ariel University; and especially to Dr. Ronen Cohen, who provided invaluable research information from Israel.

Finally, a book project of this magnitude demands a grueling work and travel schedule. I am deeply indebted to my beloved wife, Carolyn. Without her patience, compassion, encouragement, and sacrifice, there would be no possible way to have achieved this.
